

Farmer Advisory Committee

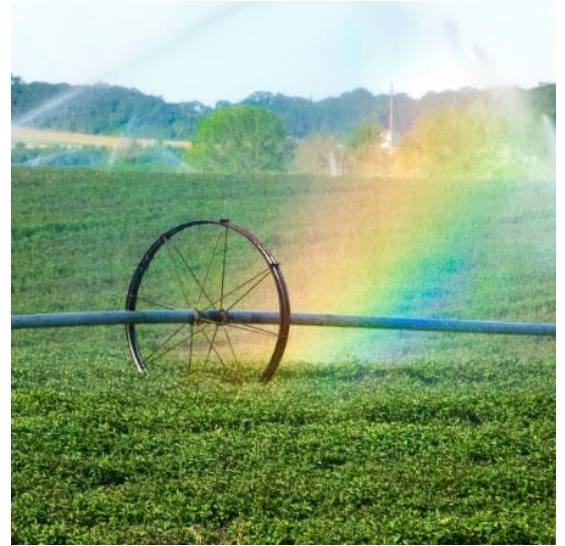

The Voice of Oregon's Working Lands

Help protect Oregon farms, forests & ranches!

JOIN US TODAY!

Join with farmers, ranchers and foresters from all over Oregon! Help protect our valuable working lands from urban sprawl and other inappropriate development.

Assist 1000 Friends of Oregon in deciding what land use issues are important to Oregon's agricultural and forestry industries. Our voices are essential in helping 1000 Friends protect and preserve Oregon's irreplaceable working lands.

About the Farmer Advisory Committee

- Farmer Advisor Committee members earn their living farming, ranching or in forestry. We come from all regions of Oregon.
- Committee members support Oregon's land use planning system and its goals to protect our working lands.
- We meet twice a year in Salem, before and during the legislative session. Committee membership is free and meeting attendance is not required.
- The committee guides 1000 Friends' legislative priorities, and educates and advises elected officials and the general public about Oregon's working lands and land use laws.

"Oregon's prime agricultural land should be kept in production for as long as possible."

HECTOR MACPHERSON, OREGON FARMER, LEGISLATOR, & LAND USE LEADER
